Dear Mr. Johansen:

Congratulations on your school being recognized by the University of Wisconsin-Madison for its outstanding Advanced Placement (AP) programs.

AP courses are academically challenging and prepare high school students for success at the next level. Choosing to study AP courses and take the exams that follow allow students to earn college credits while still in high school, bolster their applications for college admission, and delve deeper into their areas of interest once they are accepted into college.

Again, please accept my congratulations on your achievement. Please feel free to contact me if I may be of assistance to you in the future.

Sincerely,

Russ Decker
