Good Afternoon,

I know that you were aware that Melissa Meyer's FACE class had been chosen as one of 21 classrooms in the state of Wisconsin by the Wisconsin Educational Communications Board for a project on financial literacy. You may recall it being on one of the school board meeting agendas in the spring.

I wasn't sure however if you had a chance to view the video which is now available online at <http://www.ecb.org/finance/G58Meyer.html>

Her classroom is listed in the grade 5-8 lesson.

I have shared this video with the statewide staff of Junior Achievement of Wisconsin. We are very excited that our Junior Achievement program, JA Economics for Success along with Carrie Luedtke the JA volunteer from River Valley Bank had the opportunity to be highlighted in Melissa Meyer's classroom. I have had the opportunity to work very closely with Melissa in her classroom and she is truly dedicated to teaching her students about financial literacy.

We are thankful that she includes Junior Achievement as part of her Teen Living Skills curriculum. Melissa has had the same JA volunteers present in her classroom for both the fall and spring semesters since the 2006-07 school year. That in itself says a lot about her! She has definitely represented the D.C. Everest School District and Junior Achievement very well.
